

RAPID RIVER™

A white water rafting game where players sit in a simulated raft seat and use a maneuverable paddle for speed and steering. A pneumatic system can jolt the raft seat whenever the player(s) collide into rocks and/or crash into big swells. An enormous 50 inch screen immerses the players into the action as they float downstream. Two players can play at the same time as a team and combine their strength to paddle away from hungry dinosaurs, deadly whirlpools and so on. Several branches in the river allow the players to choose their own course down the river. If players successfully reach one of three different endings in time, they are given a special bonus stage.
